

TET Overheads Guidance – Supporting the Whole System of Care

At Tasman Environmental Trust (TET), we're grateful for every dollar donated to conservation efforts across the Top of the South. When you give to a project through TET, 15% of your donation directly supports our TET Conservation Hub.

This contribution is vital to support the hub, which provides the backbone of support for the whole system — the people, skills, and infrastructure that help multiply the impact our amazing community conservation projects deliver.

Your contribution helps us to support community groups by:

- Provide financial management and transparent reporting
- Back fundraising and grant applications that bring in further support
- Offer expertise and support in project planning and development
- Build collaborations and partnerships that grow impact
- Support strategies for long-term change
- Share stories through communications that inspire action and pride
- Offer office space and support for project meetings

We know that trust is built on openness. This core support helps ensure every project is well-run, well-supported, and positioned to make a lasting difference. It enables us to walk alongside community groups and landowners for the long haul — not just in planting seasons, but through all the seasons of a project's life.

By supporting the 'Hub', you're helping us hold the big picture, strengthen the roots, and ensure the whole forest thrives.

Ngā mihi nui – thank you for being part of the movement.
